Dear Agronomy Journal Editors,

How life is going on? I am very fine and well done. Dear, I am very interested and impressive you were given as contractive comments and suggestion on my article titled with “The Effect of Different Seeding and Fertilizer Rates on Agronomic traits, Yield and yield components of Two Fodder Oat(Avena Sativa) Varieties in Highlands of North Shewa, Oromia, Ethiopia” coded with Manuscript ID: agronomy-2843894. Dear, I have tried to incorporate major comments and suggestion that in indicated by green color where correction made. As what was raised as a major problems was, the duration of the activity. The activity was conducted at one location for one year as part of student thesis. Because of this, the authors recommended over years over locations experimental conduction to approve the current findings. I am very interested to all comments and suggestion, But I asked excuse me Agronomy Journals of my lateness response due to connection problems my local area as there were a conflict.

Thank you for your help!!
