nickname:

Samurai

Sessions attended: 44, 89, 114, 160, 162, 165, 166, 167, 176, 190, z11, z14, 235, 238, 240, 245, z22, z33, 259, 261, 267, 291, 305

Comments: Bold and curious—circled me two feet away the first time we met, moving fast. At 114, she was mature and pregnant, the 'V' in her colour-line curved into a 'U' by (perhaps) her growth. At 291 the V was a V again, so it must change to a U as she swells in pregnancy. Again she came across as very bold, but moved more slowly.

nickname:

Mephistopheles

Description: Male; 4 feet, brown; grey at 138. Bite out of nose, healed. Thickness of cut place: >1 inch. Two angled, mostly vertical white scars like healed knife slashes, on right side posterior to dorsal fin.

Sessions attended: 60, 65, 138, 141, 145, 210, 215, 218, B28, 274, z48

Comments: Bold and fast moving. Seen December 15, 99 and January 2, 00, next year November 3rd, 17th, December 2nd, 2000, then November 15th, 2001, December 02, December 03. Present at both sessions Shenandoah came. In spite of his unforgettable appearance, the dive club owners taking people daily to shark dives on the outer reef have never seen him! Suspect he visited during the mating season from another island.

Shark 104

nickname:

Cochita

Description: Female; 3.5 feet, the colour of dark chocolate identified. Dot on back of head, right side, and one on body. Left side: dot on tail, another on her side.

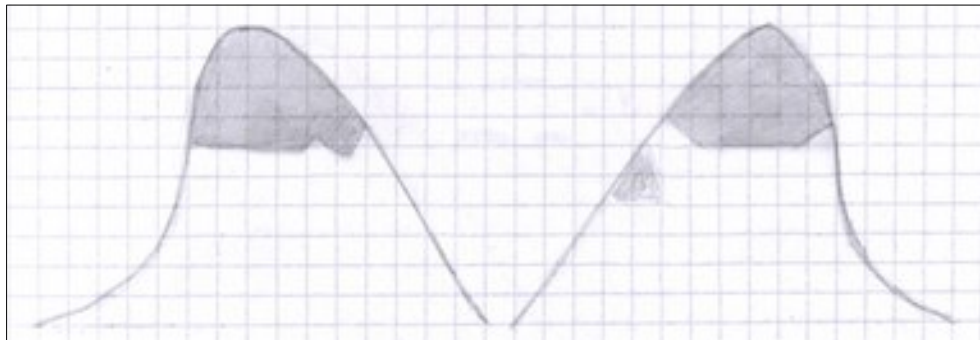

Sessions attended: 39, 60, 61, 63, 65, 69, 70, 72, 75, 76, 78, 79, 81, 83, 84, 86, 91, 94, 96, 99, 102, 104, 106, 107-109, 111-114, 116, 118, 122, 124, 126-129, 131-139, 141, 143-148, 150-158, 160-181, z4, 182, z6, 184, 186-190, 193-196, z15, 197-201, 203-213, 215, 217, y-14, 218-238, 240, 242-247, O2, O3, a19, 252-255, a26, z32, 258-261, 263, 265, 266, 268-275, 277, 279, 280, 282-284, a29, 285, a30, 287-291, z40, 292

Comments: Very similar in appearance to Cochito; even to the dorsal fin pattern. The pair arrived in the area at the same time and usually appeared together, often side by side. As they matured, they moved more with partners of the same gender. Quickly they were among those present when I went underwater, apparently understanding the sound of my approaching kayak. Missed 2 sessions when I approached from the eastern direction, yet met me underwater swimming southwest of site 03/09/01 9:00 a.m. Her range became the border area.

Shark 105

nickname:

Cochito

Description: Male; 3.5 feet, brown when identified just before maturity.

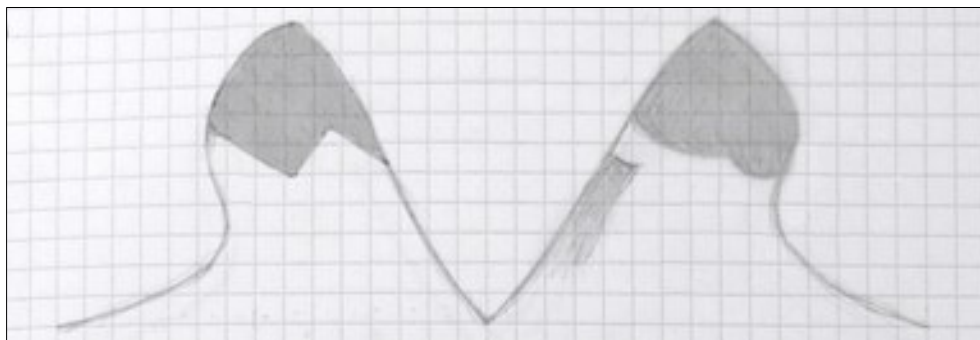

Sessions attended: 58, 60, 61, 64, 65, 67-70, 72, 73, 77, 80-82, 84-91, 93, 95-97, 99, 101, 103-105, 107-114, 119-121, 123-128, 132-138, 140, 144, 151, 153-158, 161-172, 174-186, 189, z11, 192, 193-202, 204, 206, 208-213, 218, 219, 220

Comments: Very similar in appearance to Cochita; even to the dorsal fin pattern. The pair arrived in the area at the same time and usually appeared together, at times in parallel. As they matured, they moved more with partners of the same gender. At 155, slash from mid base dorsal fin 4" down to mid body. Already black; he didn't have it 7 days before at 154, showing healing rate. At 167, another slash 3" behind the first one, gaping wide. Slash on tail tip at 174. He had a slash in 2000 also. Very strange that this maturing juvenile male would receive slashes in the same place year after year.

Comments: Appeared about the age of 3 years, scouting the site after dark when the others had gone before coming at the beginning. Bite marks November 24th, 00. At 216, bite out of left pectoral fin, and prominent black dot about where Merrilee's is. Stayed 8 months, absent 8 months, returned in December 02. Left in April, returned in December, 03. Comments: Came back at 154 with many others who had been absent for weeks. Z43—white crinkling that used to be just on the border between his right ventral fin and body have now spread, and are on his side, there, too.

Comments: 128: Initially he arrived always at sunset; on his first four visits he entered the site at precisely the moment that the sun lay like a ball upon the line of the horizon, four days before the dark of the moon, an initial clue to the precise movements of the sharks relative to the sun and moon. Later he came earlier at times to the sessions. Seen in barrens, June 29th, 01, in the morning. Association with Kilkenny.

Shark 116

nickname:

Raphael

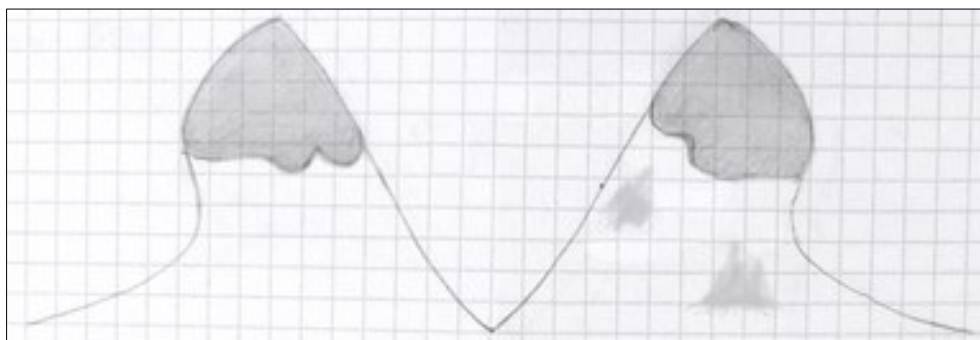

Description: Male; 4 feet, light grey.

Comments: Came January 29th, 1999. Came December 9th, 2000. Roaming in lagoon at noon June 8th, Sec B—came to next session, 180. In section B on September 6th, 01, 4:45 p.m., didn't come to session though I was trailing scent. Came with Gabriel to 206, with Mephistopheles to 210. Missing long time in 03; must have been far away.

Shark 119

nickname:

Kimberley

Description: Female; 6 feet, very dark grey; very elderly. White marks $\frac{3}{4}$ inch across on each side of head, in the same place, matching.

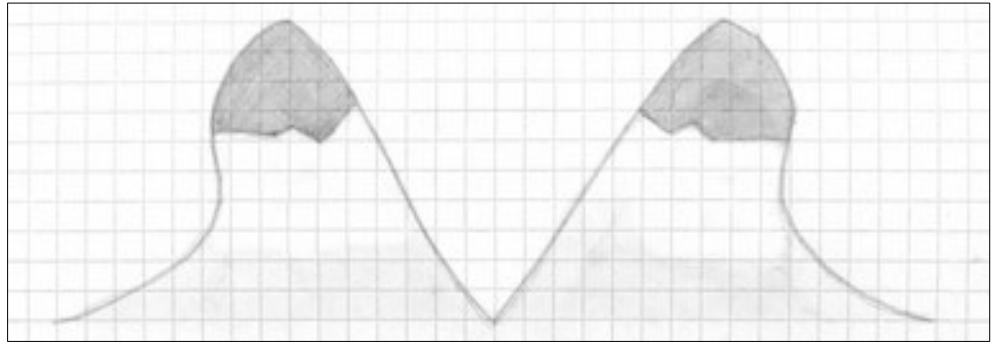

Sessions attended: 70, 72, 73, 74, 76, 78, 104, 106, 113, 115, 116, 118, 124, 157, 164, 166-169, 176, z4, 206, 234, 235

Comments: She is the oldest and most scarred shark I've ever seen. In the area with Twilight whom she resembles dramatically; I think they are sisters. Out of 157 feedings, 2 out of 4 times that Dapples came, Kimberley also came, yet both come so rarely. At 157, 164, 166, (01) she came when it was almost too dark to see. At 166, 167, 168, and 169, she and Twilight came together. At 169, I saw them approach, Twilight following two minutes behind Kimberley, in her scent trail. They circled through the site and around down current where they performed a 'swim-by' (close pass) on meeting. Rare morning sighting in barrens, June 25th, 01.

Shark 120

nickname:

Antoinette

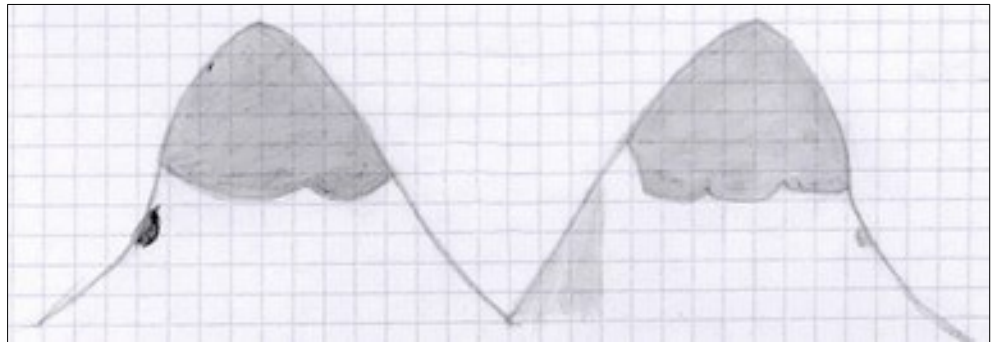

Description: Female; 6 feet.

Shark 121

nickname:

Jessica

Description: Female; 5 feet, mid-brown. Black dot 3" to left side and in front of dorsal fin. Two light marks on tail, aligned horizontally, 2½" apart. 1 cm long, light mark on colour line at front 1/3rd of body, left side; light mark base of dorsal fin, right side.

Sessions attended: 72, 73, 79-86, 90-97, 100, 106-109, 111-114, 116, 118, 119, 123, 126-128, 130, 132, 135, 136, 144, 145, 147, 149, 151, 167, 172-181, z5, 184, z7, 190, z11, 191, 192, Ba2, 200, 202, 203, z18, 205, 225, 232, 233, 235, 243-247, B5, B8-B10, B15, 253, B19-25, B27, z32, B28, B29, B32, B34-36, B39, 259, B40, B41, B44, B45, 264, 266, 267, 269, 280, 281, 287- 289, 291, z41, 295, 298, z53, z59, z60

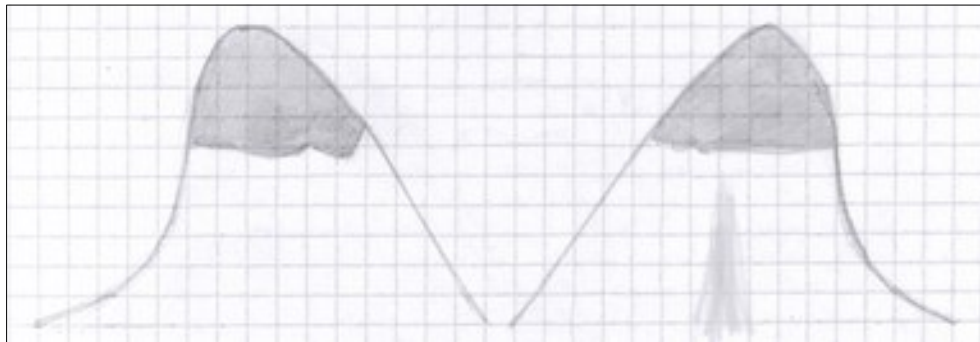

Comments: A few fresh mating cuts at 82, new ones; none before. Mated about Mar 10, 00. Right pectoral fin bitten and sliced 109; healing slowly. Very pregnant at 136, then stopped coming. Had pups by 144, Dec 1st. No mating wounds at 167 on her return. Seen in barrens, June 29th, 01. Seen in Section 2 September 6, 01, 4:45 p.m. roaming around on the edges of section B; must live in the west part of Section B. Had mated at 232, about 2 wks before, so about Feb 7 + or - a few days.

First noticed her skin problem in March 04, at 281, a rash covering most of the back of her head like eczema before it breaks out. Z41-Her rash is much worse. 295—getting worse slowly; didn't see her for a long time. On May 21st, 05, z53, the problem seemed to have sunk into the flesh, giving it a corrugated look over much of her dorsal surface and sides. Her fins looked okay, and there were few dark spots but her tail seems to be shredding. She reappeared over the next full moon period, then disappeared; likely died from her condition.

Comments: Fast became a regular, staying a long time, often till the end, long after the others left, or leaving and returning to cruise the vicinity as darkness fell. Mating wounds at 151; mated 2 to 3 weeks ago; December 10th to 17th approx. Followed boat from z6 to 184. Stuffing herself at 206 while belly/ventral fins super distended and you could see into her body through her cloaca. (Scientists report that sharks don't eat before birthing—probably not in aquariums due to stress from being unable to go to the nursery they prefer.) Had pups 5 days later. Had mated at 220, between Dec 11 and Jan 6, 02. Mated week before 228, 02/02/02. Disappeared when sharks were being finned. Presumed finned.

Shark 134

nickname:

Tamarack

Description: Juvenile male when first identified; 3 feet. Small claspers. Light dot on mid right side visible from a bit of a distance; closer, several more are visible in a line a few inches long, including a couple of tiny dark marks. A dark mark on left side.

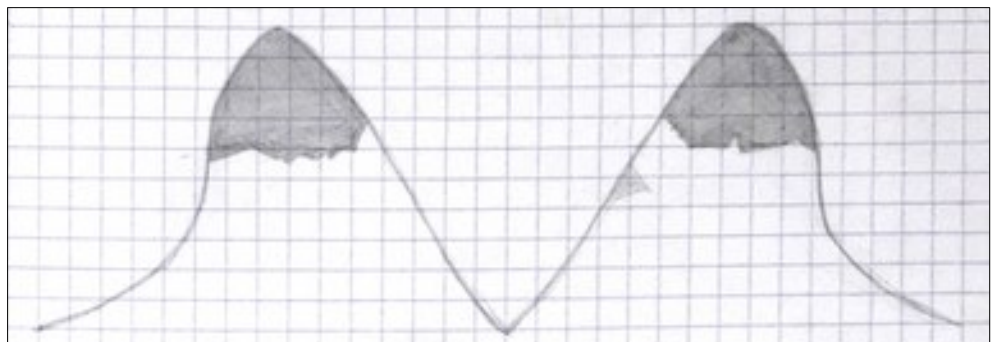

Sessions attended: 78, 81, 83, 85, 87-91, 93-97, 99, 101, 103, 104, 106-108, 110, 115-118, 120-126, 128-130, 132, 134, 136-144, 146-150, 152-156, 158, 161-172, 174-181, y6, 182-185, 187, 188, 190, 192, 194-196, Ba2, 197-199, 201-204, 206, 208, 209, 212, 213, 215, 216, 220, 224-245, 247, a19, z24, 248, B14, 252, 254, 255, z32, B28, B29, z33, z34, B32, B36-40, B43, B44, 265, 266, 268-271, 273, 274, 279, 280, 281, a28, 282-284, a29, 286-293, 295-303, a38, 304, 305, z53, z60, z61

Comments: Claspers an inch long when I first saw him, Feb 24, 00. At 115, 2 inches long, claspers look normal size for his size at 146; a year to grow! Often stays til the end, and continues to cruise the site after the others have gone. After noting that he'd been coming always at the end of the session, found him roaming in Section B on 06/09/01, at 4:45 p.m. Came to session 197 after—must have followed me—arrived at Section A site at same time as me. After that, came at the beginning and stayed til end. At 213 his claspers were swollen, so he must be mature this year, 2001. Two years to mature after claspers start growing? Once he followed me almost all the way home, far down the bay, a unique act.

Shark 135

nickname:

Arcangela

Description: Female; 5.5 feet.

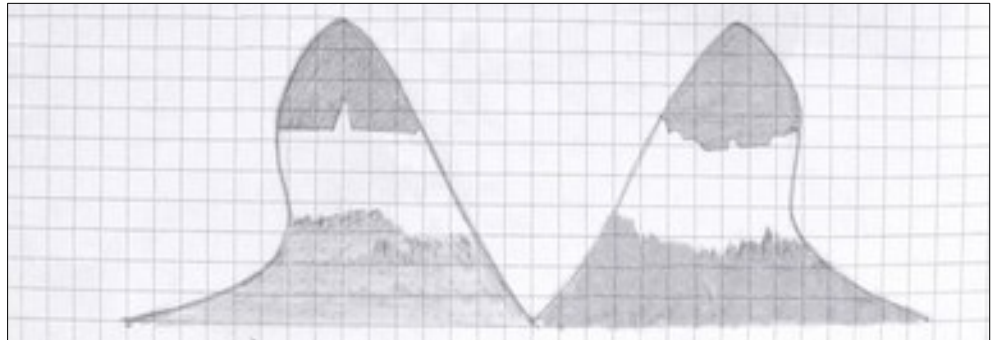

Sessions attended: 80, 82, 92, 94, 127, 144, 148, 158, 164, 165, 171, 229, 230, 232-238, 240, 243, 244, B3, B4, B11

Comments: Came with Twilight and Alexandra; later came with Celeste, and others; see notes. Visits coincide with Twilight's quite closely, especially after Kimberley died. 237 arrived with Twilight.

Shark 136

nickname:

Alexandra

Description: 6 feet light grey-brown, wide white bands both sides.

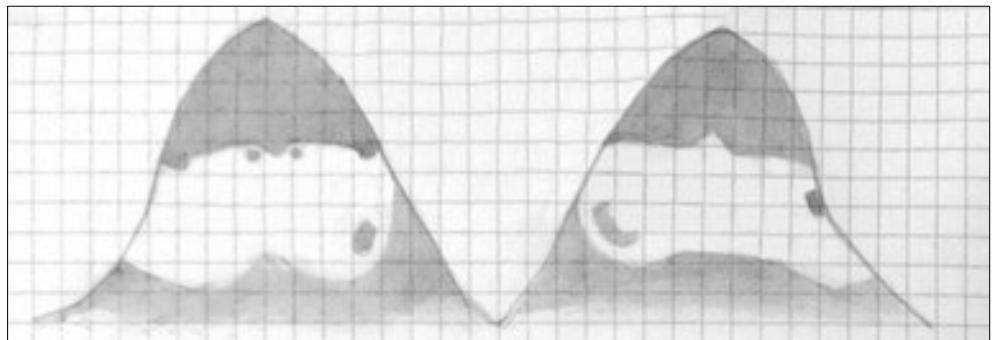

Sessions attended: 80

Comments: Apparently with Arcangela during her only visit.

Shark 137

nickname:

Twilight

Description: Female; 6 feet, pale grey-brown—the colour of the water at dusk. She had a fainter snowflake, about 2 cm across, on the sides of her head in exactly the place that Kimberley did, on a line extended from the lateral marking.

Sessions attended: 80, 82, 85, 86, 104, 115, 117, 145, 156, 160, 162, 166-170, 176, z2, z6, 214, 228, 231, 236, 237, 240, 245, B5-7, B16, B20, z28, B28, B30, B36, B40, B41, 261, B43, 265, 280, a28, 287, 289-292

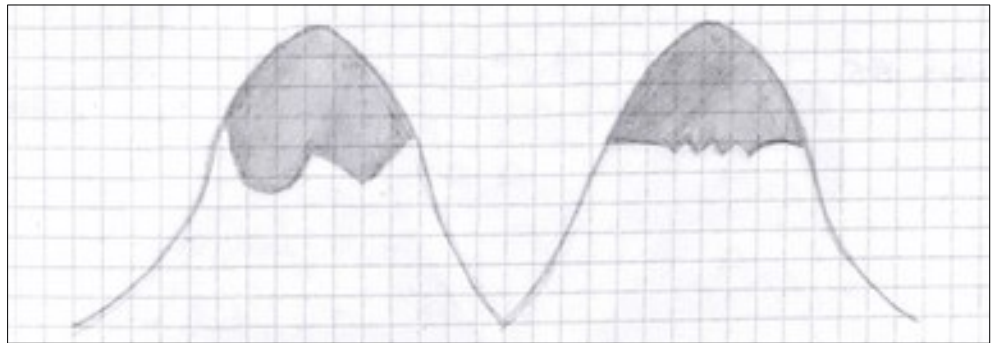

Comments: Initially always came as night fell, so named. Visits the area when Kimberley does, and they share a remarkable physical resemblance, even to the dorsal fin markings. Believe they are sisters. Came together at 166, 167, 168, 169 at nightfall; at 169, she arrived following in Kimberley's scent flow two minutes behind. She or Kimberley often appear in the same moon phase as Dapples. Mated week before 02/02/02 (228). Came to same session as Marco, 231, 237, 240, Kimberley appearing at intervening sessions. Began coming with Arcangela after Kimberley disappeared. Arrived with her at 240; saw them roaming together. At 280 her white markings much more white and outlined.

Came to 286; Odyssey and Clementine came to 285; BBC filming in between, which may have kept rare visitors down-current. But she was in the area in the approximate time frame in 2004 that Odyssey and Clementine also visited, which is still remarkable. Cheyenne was also present, coming to 287, 285.

Comments: Ranges Section B it seems, coming into the barrens and across too at times. Badly cut straight up centre of nose and over face at 287, about one week before, flesh missing, so profile of her nose has jog in it. Evidently a machete wound. Dark area on left side of back of head may have been stabbed several times or just grazed. Swimming normally. Arrived with Shilly (Southwest region of coral near barrens) this time, with several others from half to one km to the east in the lagoon. Following week, black line up face, couldn't see more detail, but the black area on the back of her head was smaller. Healed, flesh missing from nose, by 292. Appears now to have an association with Shilly.

Comments: She passes right to left, so that it wasn't till 154 that I saw her other side, or could watch her. Even then, I only saw the right side at a distance. At 154, gold, mated a week before—went to another island to mate? On her return a year later, she roamed through the site in a relaxed way, so for the first time I could see the right side of her fin up close.

Comments: Once she discovered the feeding sessions, she would stay around as long as I was there. Followed me around coming too close for comfort at 178 like Martha. Shark 179

nickname:

Shenandoah

Description: Female; 6 feet, grey-brown.

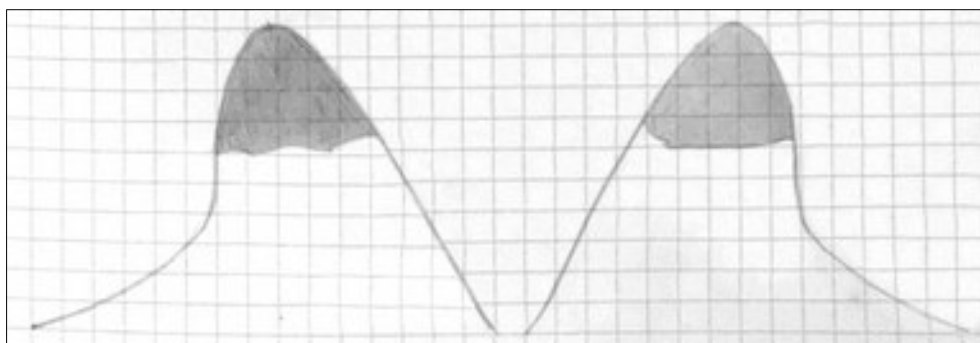

Sessions attended: 138, 215, P1, P2, P3, P5

Comments: Home range in Papetoai lagoon, extreme east side, providing first evidence that sharks do, if very occasionally, move through neighbouring lagoons. No other sharks from that lagoon were ever observed at a session in the main study area. Shenandoah came to Section A on 03/11/00, and 04/12/01. On her first meeting, she swam slowly up to my face, nearly touching me, time after time. Her behaviour was always strange, even in her own range, where she would cruise behind me, scarcely in visual range, for long periods, then suddenly make a very close approach straight on.

Comments: Grew to be one of the big females of the barrens-to-border region after the deaths of the original residents. Hooked at z40; stabbed in mid right side at 299, November 13th—a two inch, fresh, vertical stab wound. And she's so shy. She had her pups immediately after that, prior to November 17th, when the knife wound was just beginning to grey around the edges. It was very early for her though I was not sure the precise time she mated, and have no doubt that the loss of her pups was due to this injury.. Knife wound black on November 20th. Big hook in mouth z55, June 3rd, 05.

Comments: Coming at sunset in June, July, 2000. 5:15 July 28th, (sunset, 5:45). At 193; he came at 5:57. 199: 5:16, 200: 5:48, 201: 5:27, 202: waiting on my arrival at 5:15, at 203: 5:57. At 206 small claspers, 2 inches at 234, March 1st, 02. As he got older, and everyone else died, he was one of the few who would bug me for food when he came after it was gone. Strange that having come to the regular sessions while he was growing up, that he switched to Site B easily, but rarely returned to Site A for a long time. Another impression that males roam more freely, farther.
