CERTIFICATE OF ENGLISH EDITING

To whom it may concern:

This memo is to certify that the paper titled Characteristics and evolution of structural and functional connectivity in a large catchment (Poyang Lake) during the past 30 years has been edited for language by LLGITLLC, a company dedicated to helping international researchers publish the best possible version of their manuscript to English Language journals.

Our international paper editing service is performed by a native English expert editor and reviewed for accuracy by an editor fluent in the original manuscript language.

The certificate is being issued upon the request of the client. If you have any questions, please contact LLGITLLC@gmail.com.

Signature of the editor representative:
